This fund is a consolidation of two Fidelity funds, the India Focus Fund and the China Focus Fund. China and India constitute separate and exciting parts of the economy within Asia, enjoying specific advantages in terms of population demographics, growth potential and investment flows.

Objective

- The India China Fund aims to provide long term growth, principally through investment in equities in India, China and Hong Kong, as well as equities that derive a significant proportion of their income from these markets.
- It is suited to investors whose portfolios are dominated by equities from Europe, the U.S. and Japan and who are willing to take a significant level of risk with this part of their portfolio.

Operation

- The portfolio has an equal 50% weighting in the two portfolios, rebalanced quarterly by Fidelity.
- Fidelity is well recognised as a research house in Asia and was awarded the Best Asia Pacific (ex Japan) Group at the 2007 Professional Adviser awards. Fidelity opened its first Asian office in Japan in 1969 and has since established offices in Hong Kong, India, Korea, Singapore and Taiwan. In all, they now have 121 investment professionals in Asia, giving them the strength and depth to research companies first hand and generate insights that uncover the best investment opportunities

Highlights

- This fund gives investors access to the long-term, and unique, growth potential opportunities that these two separate and exciting parts of the Asian economy offer.
