Most of us know that we need to protect ourselves, our families and homes against the financial hardship that could be caused be an illness or death in the family.

We want to help you understand your protection needs and get you thinking about you and your family's future. This guide aims to give you the straightforward information about the different types of protection you can get so that you can make your decisions with confidence.

To make sure the guide is simple and easy to follow; we've had it checked by the Plain English Campaign, an independent organisation that lobbies for clarity and honesty in crystal-clear language.
